I. INTRODUCTION

Tax is the greatest potential for the state to finance the development i.e 75% of APBN donated from the tax sector, therefore the government more optimize the role of the tax sector to increase tax revenue. Tax revenues still need to be improved considering that the potential for tax revenues has not been maximized. Therefore, in line with the development and economic growth is increasing, so it should be realized that many tax problems are no longer in accordance with existing conditions, thus demanding a refinement of tax laws, so that state revenues sourced from the tax sector can be maximized. Government efforts to increase domestic revenues from the tax sector, among others by changing the tax collection system of the official assessment system into a self-assessment system, in which the taxpayer is authorized to determine for himself the amount of tax payable by calculating, depositing and reporting his own tax payable by conveying letter of notification. While the fiscal party is believed to supervise in accordance with applicable law, caused by regulations that require taxpayers to apply the self-assessment system resulted in not a few taxpayers who take action active resistance against taxes. Active resistance includes tax avoidance, tax evasion, and tax delinquency. The amount of tax payable is calculated by the taxpayer itself and reported through the Annual Tax Return (SPT). Upon submission of Annual Tax Returns reported by the Taxpayer is followed up by each Tax Office located in every region in Indonesia, and one of them is the Tax Office Pratama Kendari.

Notification Letter is a letter used by a taxpayer to report the calculation and / or payment of tax, tax object and non taxable object, and / or property and liability in accordance with the provisions of the taxation legislation (Siti Resmi, 2011: 19). The function of the notice is to oversee the tax revenue. Therefore, taxpayers' compliance in SPT reporting should be increased so that the supervision of tax revenue becomes effective. Taxpayer Compliance in SPT reporting can be seen from whether SPT has been reported by Taxpayer or not, SPT filing must be true, clear, and equipped with its attachments and must be reported in accordance with the time limit specified.

There are still many taxpayers who do avoid the obligation of taxation that is not reporting Annual Income Taxes Agency. This can be seen from the total amount of SPT reported by the corporate taxpayer of Tax Office Pratama Kendari from 2012 until 2015 which shows the effectiveness level of the corporate taxpayer in fulfilling the tax obligation to report the annual tax return is still very low. Consequently, the tax authorities in this case the Directorate General of Taxes are authorized by law to conduct the examination. Tax inspection is expected to increase the level of taxpayer's effectiveness of the agency in reporting its annual income taxes which will ultimately have an impact on state revenues.

Based on the above background, the formulation of this research problem is whether the Tax Inspection on Annual Income Taxes on the Tax Office Pratama Kendari has been implemented in accordance with the established procedure?, The purpose of this study is to conduct an evaluation of the implementation of tax audits of the Annual Income Taxes in the Tax Office Pratama Kendari.

II. THEORITICAL REVIEW

1. Taxes

Definition of taxes according to Law no. 28 of 2007 concerning the Third Amendment to Law No. 6 of 1983 concerning General Provisions and Tax Procedures, namely "a tax is a mandatory contribution to a country owed by an individual or a coercive body under the Act, Direct and used for the purposes of the state for the greatest prosperity of the people".

The above definition of the authors can conclude that the tax is the obligation imposed on the people against the coercive state treasury under the law, where the people do not get direct service rewards but instead used for national development and welfare of the community. The authors draw the conclusion that the characteristics of the tax may be summarized as follows: (a) Taxes levied under laws and regulations, (b) payments of taxes owed by persons or entities (taxpayers) may be imposed, (c) Tax payer can not enjoy direct contracting from the government, (d) Taxes levied by the State either through the central government or local government so that there is a term of central tax and local taxes, (e) tax revenues are used for financing expenditures, and If there is an excess then the rest is used for public investment.

2. Tax audits

Tax audits are generally necessary to detect fraud committed by taxpayers and also encourage them to pay taxes honestly in accordance with applicable regulations. The purpose of the examination according to the decree of the Minister of Finance Republic Indonesia number 199 / PMK.03 / 2007 is to examine compliance with the fulfillment of tax obligations in order to provide legal certainty, justice and guidance to taxpayer and other purposes in order to implement the provisions of taxation legislation.

Definition of Tax Inspection according to Mardiasmo (2009: 50): "Tax inspection is a series of activities to search, collect, process data, collect and or other information to test compliance fulfillment of tax obligations and other purposes in order to implement the provisions of tax laws".

The object of the Tax Inspection is the Taxpayer's Financial Statement which forms the basis of the Annual Income Taxes. Inspection is an activity undertaken by the Directorate General of Taxes, in this case tax inspector (tax officer) of the taxpayer for the fulfillment of tax obligations under the tax law for various purposes. Inspection action is an action performed by tax officials (tax authorities) in order to carry out examination of the taxpayer, to find materials in determining the amount of tax payable and the amount of tax payable.

The above definition of the authors can conclude that the Tax Inspection is not only to test compliance fulfillment of tax obligations but also to conduct supervision of compliance fulfillment of tax obligations.
